

Are Birds The Eyes Of God?

Ok, you give me the look, your mind has really taken flight.
But look, look around you, they are with us day and night.
The creatures of flight, and the feathered birds, which have transformed to a land locked earth walk.

We even take them into our homes for fellowship.

We observe each other on a daily basis.

So I as you this?????????

If you were the creator and needed video cam units to monitor the progress of your creation, would you not select a creature of such high energy, able to observe from all elevations, even peek under the water as do the water ouzel, ducks, king fishers, swans, and the many shore birds?

Oh yes you say, we have high tech to observe our planet earth.

But can it compare to all the creator's operatives across this Planet, night and day following the tides and seasons with perfect navigation, renewing generation after generation?

And Ah, do we create observation operatives which can deliver

A variety of melodies with a wide range of rhythms, sounds,
With a vocal range which can challenge any opera Impresario.
Do they deliver their vocal productions to monitor our ability to appreciate their art?

Oh, let's not forget their ability to dance to the rhythm of life to increase their number.

Have they not taught us the importance of proper courting?

Do we not use dance to attract our mate?

Do we not try to create settings to put our mates in a loving Mood?

Now, to the kaleidoscope of feather designs and color, there is no end to the creative display.

Is this display created to test our ability to appreciate the art of the divine creative geometry?

So next time you meet one of God's creatures of feather and beak, stop to think, is this God's mini-cam link?
