

Future Reflections

I am on a journey of return to the center from whence I came;
that loving whole, complete and perfect One,
of which I was a whole, complete and perfect expression.

The journey is through the darkness of the space toward light and takes but an instant.

I have made it before, but thought is quicker,
and I reflect on my recent self on earth,
as a child growing up to adulthood in the human state;
experiencing all those things one experiences;
a pass-through of sensations.

My true self being revealed as I was prepared to accept it, and use it for my benefit and for the benefit of all.

Gifts shared with others discovered also sharing,
helping, nurturing and encouraging,
with the warm feeling of having done what was expected,
and now heading home.

Ken Green
2005