

Purpose

I am supposed to be here for you in a way only you can know.
Whatever time or place or need
it matters not to me,
for my joy is in the being.

I have been and will always be that part of Spirit once created whole, complete and perfect, never changing as such.

Outward appearance is a mantle to grace the earth,
living God's life,
with senses formed to experience the wonders of a world It created.

The inner connection is two-way.
Pain and Joy, love and grace for one is for all. God knows, for God is All.

Breathe in the now.
Breathe out the past.
As beloved of the Beloved,
accept as birthright the incandescent joy of the power of co-creation.

Let love and understanding be our communication.
I am supposed to be here for you.
and so I am.
